THE AGED PASTOR.

He stands in the desk, that grave old man, With an eye still bright, though his cheek is wan, And his long white locks are backward rolled From his noble brow of classic mould, And his form, though bent by weight of years, Somewhat of its primal beauty wears.

He opens the page of the Sacred Word-Not a whisper, nor low nor loud is heard; Even Folly assumes a serious look, As he readeth the words of the Holy Book : And the thoughtless and gay grow rev'rent there, As he opens his lips in fervent prayer.

He stands as the grave old prophet stood, Proclaiming the Truth and the living God-Pouring reproof on the ears of Lien-Whose hearts are at ease in their folly and sin: With a challenge of guilt still unforgiven, To the soul unfitted, unmeet for Heaven.

O, who can but honor that good old man, As he neareth his three score years and ten-Who hath made it the work of his life to bless Our world in its wo and wickedness; Still guiding the few which were wont to stray In the paths of sin, to the narrow way.

With a kindly heart, through the lapsing year, lie hath shared your joy , he bath wiped your tear He hath bound the wealth on the brow of the bride He hath stood by the couch when loved ones died. Pointing the soul to a gl rious Heaven. As the ties which bound it to the earth were riven

Methinks you'll weep another day, When the good old man has passed away; When the last of his ebbing sands have run, When his labor is o'er and his work is done; Who'll care for the flock and keep the fold, When his pulse is still and his heart is cold?

We'll miss him then: every look and tone So familiar now, forever gone, Will thrill the heart with inward pain, And ye'll long listen for them in vain; When a stranger form and a stranger face Shall stand in your honored pastor's place.

PILLAR LETTER BOXES .- A simple and efficient plan for facilitating the posting letters in the most populous parts of London has been adopted. It consists of placing pillar letter boxes along the leading thoroughfares, at intervals of half a printed in a form admirably suited for preservation. mile or thereabouts. These hollow pillars will be fitted for the reception of letters, and fixed on the footway, in such a position as not to obstruct traffic of any kind, and the Post Office Department will itself bear the whole expense of construction and erection. The letters are to be taken out every hour, so as to continue the present admirable system of the London post office, whereby any letter posted country. within three miles of the General Post Office is delivered to its address within a period of not more than two hours from the time at which it was deposited in the letter box.

THE GAME COCK OF THE BORDERS. A ROMANCE OF THE REVOLUTION. Tall Ethan, we repeat, is the best Romance of the Revolution that has ever been published. Some of the most thrilling and exciting incidents that characterized that eventful period, are related in it; desperate fights in awamps and thickets, with the British and their ruthless Indian allies, are graphically described; the perils which beset our heroic forefathers, and the privations and hardships they had to encounter, in their struggles for Liberty, are g owingly and truthfully detailed;-in short, and in the larguage of one who has been permitted to peruse it in manuscript, "No Tale of the Revolution that has yet been produced, can compare with it. It is replete with singular and exciting incidents, marvellous adventures, hair-breadth escapes, love in trigues, social revelations, midnight surprises, fights in swamps and thickets, &c., &c."
